

How To Build GNOME HOMES

1. Gather natural materials from your backyard. this could be leaves, twigs, acorns, or pine cones.

2. Find a nice mossy spot in the nook of a tree or a nice sandy bottomed cave for constructing your home.

3. Get creative in your building. think about where the gnome might like to have its bedroom, its kitchen or it's living room.

4. If you are trying to have a new resident at your house, think of sprucing the place up with some sparkly mica or little berries as a present for the gnome.

5. Keep checking back at your home to see if the gnome left you any thank you notes or presents.
